Reason for Designation

The Albion Hotel at 227-233 Hunter Street West has cultural heritage value as a landmark building on the cusp of the downtown core. It is a rare Second Empire building that still retains its mansard roof, a feature popular in the Victorian era yet with few examples surviving in Peterborough. It is also a unique example of row housing in Peterborough. The property showcases the lives of the working-class in Peterborough in a few of its notable tenants including merchant turn town assessor Cornelius McGrath, grocer Wellington Bradshaw and plumber C. A. Joseph Duranceau. Its location and surroundings make it one of few historical properties on an axis to the downtown core making it a landmark and essential to maintaining and supporting the character of the downtown area.
